

Children & Infants at the Music Encoding Conference 2016

The Music Encoding Conference is dedicated to being a family-friendly event, and registered conference attendees may bring their children to events. We also welcome infant feeding on demand in all event venues, including breast and bottle feeding.

We have also set aside a room for infant feeding if a private space is preferred (A-832 kitchen* on the 8th floor of the Wirth Music Building, including seating, electrical outlets, microwave, and refrigerator).

Additionally, room C-210 has been made available for parents and caregivers to have a place to go on-site. Children in either of these rooms must be supervised at all times. See the information desk for access and directions.

Nearby washrooms with change tables:

- Wirth Music Building (A-207 and A-209)
- Strathcona Music building (room 118).

If you have any questions or concerns, or suggestions for next time, please contact the information desk in the conference lobby or contact Emily Hopkins (contact info in printed program).

Additionally, if you have had to pay someone to do childcare in Montreal while you participate in the conference, we may be able to reimburse all or part of your expenses. (Please keep invoices or receipts and proof of payment.) Contact Emily Hopkins for further details.

*A different room was printed in the program, but this is a more accessible option!
